Description of goods, works and service

70. (1) A procuring entity shall -
- (a) formulate a specification based on characteristics, function and performance requirements, to maximize competition and avoid creating an unnecessary obstacle to participation by a bidder in a procurement proceeding;
 - (b) not make a reference to a brand name, catalogue number, trademark or similar classification; and
 - (c) not use a symbol and terminology that is irrelevant to a performance of the goods or create an unjustified obstacle to participation by a qualified tenderer unnecessarily and without justification limit competition.
- (2) A technical specification shall be based on -
- (a) international standards where they exist;
 - (b) national technical regulations; and
 - (c) recognised national standards or building codes.
- (3) Where there is no other sufficiently precise or intelligible way of characterising a requirement except by a use of a reference in subsection (2), a description shall be used, followed by the words “or equivalent” and shall only serve as a benchmark during an evaluation process.
- (4) Notwithstanding subsection (2), where a standardisation policy is adopted by a competent authority, a corresponding trademark, brand name, patent, design, type, specific origin, manufacturer, producer, catalogue or numbered item may be used in a statement of requirements.

Form of communication

71. (1) A document, notification, decision and other communication submitted by a procuring entity to a tenderer or by a tenderer to a procuring entity shall be in writing.

(2) A procuring entity may use other forms of communication, including electronic communication for publication of an invitation to tender, transmission of a tender document, submission of a tender, conclusion of a contract and payment, if that communication -

- (a) can preserve a record of a content of the communication;
- (b) can provide an adequate level of security;
- (c) does not unduly restrict a tenderers' access to a procurement proceeding; and
- (d) meets other requirements in any other applicable legislation.

(3) The Minister may on the recommendation of the authority and by regulations -

- (a) establish a unified e-procurement system; and
- (b) issue instructions mandating the use of e-procurement in accordance with the suitable functionalities of the system.

Submission of a tender and application

72. (1) A procuring entity shall comply with a set period for submission of a tender, application for prequalification and expression of interest stipulated in this Act, but if the amount of the tender exceeds the threshold set out in Schedule 4, the Central Tender Board shall comply with the set period.

(2) A procuring entity shall consider the need to provide a bidder with sufficient time to respond taking into account the nature and circumstances of a transaction and the characteristics of a bidding community.

Public notice of a contract award

73. A procuring entity or the Central Tender Board shall immediately after signing of a contract publish in a procurement bulletin or designated website of the Authority, notice of each contract award in which a contract amount exceeds a threshold set out in Schedule 2 and shall provide the following information:

(6) A decision regarding a disqualification or rejection of a bid shall not be taken or announced at the opening of a bid.

(7) A bidder shall not make an unsolicited communication or try in any way, to influence an examination or evaluation of a bid after opening of a bid until a preliminary decision on awarding a procurement contract has been notified to a successful bidder.

(8) A bidder who contravenes subsection (7) shall have his bid rejected.

Confidentiality

92. (1) An official, employee or a consultant engaged by a procuring entity shall consider, deal and treat a document and information relating to the functions of a procuring entity as confidential.

(2) A person in possession of or in control of a document or information relating to a business or transaction of a procuring entity shall not communicate or attempt to communicate information contained in such a document or pass on a document to a person other than authorised personnel.

(3) Information relating to an examination, clarification and evaluation of a tender and recommendation concerning an award shall not be disclosed, after a public opening of a tender to a tenderer or a person not officially concerned with a process until a publication of the award of contract.

(4) Information relating to evaluation of a proposal and a recommendation for the award of contract shall not be disclosed to a consultant who submitted a proposal or to a person not officially concerned with a process, until a publication of the award of contract.

(5) A procuring entity and the lowest evaluated tenderer shall sign a confidentiality agreement which restricts each other from disclosing information in accordance with internationally accepted standards of confidentiality prior to a start of a negotiation and standard copy of an agreement shall be provided in a contract document.

Examination, evaluation and comparison of a tender

93. (1) A tender evaluation committee shall examine a tender as a preliminary stage in order to determine whether a -

- (a) mandatory document has been furnished; and
- (b) tender is complete and signed and otherwise substantially responsive to a technical specification and contract condition set forth in a tender document containing no material deviation or only minor deviation, if any, from a requirement in a bidding document.

(2) A bid not substantially responsive to a requirement in a bidding document shall be rejected and excluded from further evaluation and comparison.

(3) A tender evaluation committee shall prepare a preliminary evaluation report detailing a reason for rejection and exclusion for further evaluation of a tender.

(4) A tender received from a person other than a prequalified tenderer shall be rejected and excluded from further evaluation where a prequalification procedure was applied.

(5) A tender not excluded from consideration under subsections (2) and (3) shall be evaluated in accordance with a criteria and methodology stated in a tender document.

(6) A tender evaluation committee may request clarification from a tenderer to facilitate evaluation but shall not ask or permit a tenderer to change a price or an aspect of a tender.

(7) A request for clarification under subsection (6) and a response to the request shall be in writing only.

(8) If there is an arithmetical error, such error shall be rectified and a tenderer notified.

(9) Refusal by a tenderer to accept a rectification under subsection (9) shall cause his tender to be rejected and he shall forfeit his tender security.

(10) If there is a discrepancy between figures and words, the amount in words shall prevail unless the discrepancy is due to misplacement of a decimal point, in which case the discrepancy shall be rectified and a tenderer notified.

(11) In a process that includes a prequalification, a qualification of a lowest evaluated tenderer shall be confirmed again to take account of any change since an original prequalification.

(12) A qualification of a lowest evaluated tender shall be checked against a criteria specified in a tender document where there is no prequalification.

(13) Where a check under subsection (12) fails, the same check shall be applied to the next lowest evaluated tenderer up to a third tenderer.

(14) A tender evaluation committee shall prepare an evaluation report detailing an examination and evaluation of a tender and identify a recommendation for award of a contract.

Cancellation of a procurement proceedings or rejection of a tender

94. (1) A procuring entity shall avoid cancelling a procurement proceeding except where -

- (a) a need for procurement has ceased to exist or changed significantly;

- (d) subject to subsection (5), the technical detail is so insufficient such that a minimum of five (5) bids had not been received, or no responsive bids are received;
- (e) there is evidence of collusion among bidders; or
- (f) it is otherwise in the public interest.

(2) Whenever a procuring entity cancels procurement proceedings, it shall promptly notify a bidder accordingly and cause a written statement detailing a reason for cancellation to be filed with a record of a proceeding.

(3) Where a procuring entity cancels procurement proceedings before the end of a bidding period, it shall -

- (a) ensure that a hard copy of a bid received remain unopened and is available for a period of thirty days following an announcement of a cancellation for a bidder to collect; and

- (b) destroy a bid after a period of thirty days period referred to in subsection (a).

(4) A procuring entity reserve a right to reject a bid at any time prior to award of a contract.

(5) A procuring entity shall promptly notify a bidder of a rejection of his bid and shall, upon request by a bidder, inform him of a reason for the rejection.

(6) Where no responsive bid is received or procurement proceeding is otherwise unsuccessful, a procuring entity shall conduct a reasonably adequate investigation into a failure and record -

- (a) a reason for the failure; and
- (b) a course of action taken by a procuring entity including a review and possible revision of a solicitation and bidding document and shall file a record with a procurement document.

(7) A procuring entity shall incur no liability towards a bidder for action taken by it in terms of this section, but this section shall not relieve a procuring entity or its officer, employee or agent from liability for negligence or for anything done in bad faith.

(8) A tender shall not be cancelled solely to solicit a lower price, although a bid may be rejected if a bid price is above an available budget.

Prohibition of a negotiation with a supplier or contractor

95. (1) A procuring entity shall not negotiate with a supplier or contractor about a tender submitted by a supplier or contractor, except as provided in subsection (2).

(2) Subsection (1) shall not apply where a lowest evaluated tender exceeds a budget for a contract by a substantial margin.

(3) A procuring entity shall investigate a cause for excessive cost and may, subject to approval by a procurement committee, negotiate a contract with a lowest evaluated tenderer to obtain a satisfactory contract through a reduction of costs and the scope of contract shall be reflected in a reduction of a contract price.

(4) A negotiated contract shall be approved by a procurement committee.

Award of a contract

96. (1) An evaluation report and recommendation for an award of a contract shall be submitted to a procurement committee for approval.

(2) A contract shall be awarded to a tenderer that has submitted a lowest evaluated tender that meets an evaluation criteria as specified in a tender document.

(3) A procurement committee shall notify a tenderer about a proposed contract award by giving a contract amount, name and address of a proposed successful tenderer after an approval of a proposed contract award.

(4) A notice under subsection (3) shall indicate that a procuring entity will invite a successful tenderer to sign a contract, unless there is an aggrieved tenderer who submitted a tender complaint against a decision of a procuring entity within ten days from a date of the notice, subject to a non-application of a standstill period if a procuring entity certifies that a procurement must proceed in an immediate aftermath of an emergency.

(5) A contract shall not be signed until an expiry of a notice given under subsection (3) and a conclusion of a complaint, if any.

(6) A procuring entity shall notify a successful tenderer of a confirmation of a contract award after expiry of a notice and conclusion of a complaint, if any, and prior to an expiry of a period of a tender validity.

(7) A procuring entity may request a bidder to extend a validity period of his bid and a bidder shall, in order to be considered to have agreed to do so, also extend a validity period of a corresponding bid security if one was required to be furnished in the first instance.

(8) A notification of a proposed award shall specify a time within which a contract shall be signed.

(9) If a tenderer whose tender has been accepted fails to -

- (i) sign a written contract within 10 days after cool-off period, when required to do so; or
- (ii) provide a required performance security for a contract within a prescribed time limit, a procuring entity shall accept a next-ranked tenderer from among the remaining tenders who participated in a tender.

(10) In selecting a next-ranked tenderer, a procuring entity shall comply with a notice requirement provided in subsections (4), (5), (6) and (7).

Entry into force and signature of a contract

97. (1) A procurement contract may be formed on a basis of an exchange of communication between parties without necessarily requiring a signature of a separate contract instrument, particularly in a case of a request for quotation proceeding.

(2) A procurement contract shall enter into force when it is duly signed by a procuring entity and a supplier or contractor where it is a requirement to have it signed.

(3) A contract shall be signed by the Chief Accounting Officer or a person duly delegated by him.

(4) The Chief Accounting Officer may delegate signing of a contract to any senior officer except the head of a procurement unit.

(5) A contract award decided by the Central Tender Board and which pertains to goods, work or service required by several procuring entities, shall be signed by the Chairperson of the Central Tender Board.

Two-stage tendering

98. An open competitive tendering may be held in the following stages:
- (a) when it is not feasible to define fully a technical or contractual aspect of a procurement to elicit a competitive tender due to the complexity and nature of a contract; or
 - (b) where a procuring entity wishes to consider various technical or contractual solutions, and to discuss with a tenderer the relative merit of a variant before deciding on a final technical or contractual specification.

Limited competitive tendering

99. (1) A procuring entity may use limited competitive tendering instead of open competitive tendering when the goods, work, or service is only available from a limited number of known suppliers or service providers in the market.
- (2) The use of limited competitive tendering method shall be approved by a procurement committee.
- (3) A procedure for open competitive tendering shall apply to a limited competitive tendering, except for advertisement to tender and prequalification procedure.

Request for a quotation

100. (1) A request for a quotation procedure shall be used when an estimated contract amount for standard, commercially available goods, work, or non-consulting service is lower than a value threshold specified in Schedule 2, or when the use of a method is authorised by the Authority for a purpose of dealing with the immediate aftermath of an emergency.
- (2) When a request for quotation procedure is employed on a ground referred to in subsection (1), a procuring entity shall solicit a quotation from a minimum number of five qualified tenderers selected in a non-discriminatory manner, unless, in emergency circumstances, a solicitation of three quotations is not feasible.

(3) An invitation for a quotation shall be on the basis of a simplified document that shall indicate a description and quantity of the goods or specification and scope of work or non-consulting service, a desired delivery or completion time, place and time for submission of a quotation and criteria for evaluation and award of contract.

(4) A tenderer shall be -

- (a) given adequate time to prepare and submit a quotation; and
- (b) required to submit only one price quotation in writing;

(5) A quotation shall be -

- (a) delivered by a specified date, time and opened immediately thereafter; and
- (b) opened and evaluated by a minimum of three officers nominated by a head of a procurement unit.

(6) A public tender opening shall not be required.

(7) A tenderer shall not be permitted to change or negotiate a quotation.

(8) An evaluation of a quotation shall follow the same principles as those for open competitive tender, including application only of evaluation criteria and methodology that have been disclosed in a bidding document.

(9) A tenderer that provides a lowest evaluated tender determined in accordance with the evaluation criteria disclosed in a bidding document, shall be awarded a contract.

Single sourcing contracting

101. A procuring entity may, with prior approval of a procurement committee, employ a direct or single source contracting procedure where -

- (a) a procurement is for an extension of an existing contract of similar nature for goods, work or service awarded, considering the -

- (i) effectiveness of an original procurement in meeting a need of a procuring entity;
 - (ii) limited size of the proposed procurement in relation to the original procurement; and
 - (iii) reasonableness of a price;
- (b) additional purchase from the original supplier may be justified for a reason of standardization of equipment or spare part to be compatible with the existing equipment;

 - (g) notice of conflict-of-interest restriction, anti-fraud and corruption rules including a ground for a potential debarment from future participation in procurement of goods, service or work that may result from an assignment under consideration;
 - (h) such other procedures as may be prescribed.

Instructions to a consultant

113. (1) The instructions to a consultant shall -
- (a) contain all necessary information to help a consultant prepare responsive proposal and shall ensure a transparent process by indicating a procedure for preparation and submission of a proposal, criteria for evaluation and award of contract;
 - (b) indicate an estimate of a level of key staff input required of a consultant but a consultant shall be free to prepare his own estimate of staff time to carry out the assignment and to offer the corresponding cost in his proposal;
 - (c) specify the proposal validity period, which should be adequate for the evaluation of proposals, decision on award, finalization of contract negotiations and signing of the contract; and
 - (d) indicate a procedure for requesting and obtaining clarification of a request for proposal.
- (2) A procuring entity shall respond promptly to a request for clarification and shall circulate the response to all consultants to whom a procuring entity provided the request for proposal without disclosing the identity of a requestor.

Evaluation criteria

114. A request for proposal shall contain an evaluation criteria to be used by a procuring entity.

Price in a proposal

115. Without prejudice to a possibility of a request for proposal providing a time-based contract in appropriate circumstances, a proposal shall be invited on the basis of full cost, unless otherwise specified in a request for proposal and a price shall include all duties, taxes and other levies.

Currency of a proposal

116. (1) A request for proposal shall state a -
- (a) currency in which a tenderer is to state his price;
 - (b) procedure for conversion of a price expressed in a different currency into a Lesotho Loti for a purpose of comparing financial proposals; and
 - (c) currency in which a contract price will be paid.
- (2) A source of exchange rate for conversion and date of selling exchange rate shall be stated in a tender document and request for proposal.
- (3) A date of exchange rate shall not be later than an original date for the opening of a technical proposal.

Securities and declaration

117. A request for proposal shall not require a consultant to provide a tender security, declaration or performance security, except under special circumstances approved by the Authority.

Time for preparation of a proposal

118. (1) A procuring entity shall allow a consultant enough time to prepare and submit a proposal.
- (2) A time allowed shall depend on an assignment but shall not be less than 20 days or more than 60 days, subject to a possibility of a shorter minimum period of time in a case of procurement needed to address an immediate aftermath of an emergency.

Submission and opening of a proposal

119. (1) A technical and financial proposal shall be submitted at the same time and in separate sealed envelopes.
- (2) Amendment to a technical or financial proposal shall not be accepted after a deadline, although amended proposal may be submitted before a deadline.

(3) A proposal received -

- (a) after a deadline shall be declared late, be rejected and kept unopened; and
- (b) from a consultant other than a shortlisted consultant and from a firm that has gone into a joint venture or association shall be rejected and promptly returned unopened.

(4) A proposal opening procedure shall be the same as a procedure specified in section 90.

(5) A request for clarification may be submitted on the same basis as that specified in section 85.

(6) A pre-proposal conference or site visit may be organized to give a prospective consultant an opportunity to seek clarification and to obtain additional information on a requirement of an assignment or clarity on an issue set out in a request for proposal.

(7) A date, time and venue of a pre-proposal conference shall be contained in a request for proposal under instructions to a prospective consultant and shall serve as an invitation to all prospective consultant, to attend a pre-proposal conference.

Evaluation of quality

120. (1) An evaluation shall be conducted solely based on a submitted technical proposal.

(2) An evaluation of a quality cost-based selection proposal shall be carried out in the following two stages:
the quality; and the cost.

(3) An evaluator of a technical proposal shall not have access to a financial proposal until a technical evaluation is concluded.

(4) A financial proposal shall be opened only after a technical evaluation has been concluded.

(5) An evaluation shall be carried out -

(a) in full conformity with a provision of a request for proposal; and

(b) by an evaluation committee of at least three or more specialists.

(6) A procuring entity shall divide criteria in a request for proposal into sub-criteria and evaluate each proposal on a basis of its responsiveness to the terms of reference.

(7) A proposal shall be considered unsuitable and rejected at a stage of evaluation if it does not respond to an important aspect of the terms of reference or fails to achieve a minimum technical score specified in a request for proposal.

(8) A procuring entity shall prepare a technical evaluation report of a quality of a proposal at the end of a process.

(9) A report under subsection (8) shall substantiate a result of an evaluation and describe a relative strength and weakness of a proposal.

(10) A record relating to an evaluation shall be retained until the completion of a project and its audit.

Evaluation of cost

121. (1) A procuring entity shall inform a consultant, who has submitted a proposal, of a technical point assigned to each consultant after an evaluation of quality is completed, and shall notify a consultant whose proposal did not meet a minimum qualifying mark or was considered non-responsive to a request for proposal and terms of reference that his financial proposal will be kept unopened after a signature of a contract.

(2) A procuring entity shall simultaneously notify a consultant that has secured a minimum qualifying mark of a date, time and place set for opening a financial proposal.

(3) The opening date shall be set between 5 and 10 days to allow a consultant to attend an opening of a financial proposal.

(4) A financial proposal shall be opened publicly in the presence of a consultant or his representative.

(5) The name of a consultant, technical point and proposed price shall be read aloud and recorded.

(6) A procuring entity shall also prepare minutes of a public opening and a copy of this record shall be posted in a procurement file and on request made available to a consultant who submitted a proposal.

(7) A cost shall include remuneration of a consultant and other expenses such as travel, taxes payable, translation, report printing or secretarial expenses.

(8) A cost shall include all taxes payable in Lesotho for the purpose of evaluation.

(9) If there is an arithmetical error in a financial proposal, that error shall be rectified and a consultant notified in writing.

(10) A proposal of a consultant who refuses to accept a correction done in terms of subsection (9) shall be rejected.

(11) If there is a discrepancy between figures and words, an amount in words shall prevail, unless a discrepancy is due to misplacement of a decimal point, in which case a mistake shall be rectified and the consultant notified.

(12) For the purpose of comparing proposals, a cost shall be converted to a single currency as stated in the request for proposal.

(13) A proposal with a lowest cost may be given a financial score of 100 and other proposals given financial scores that are inversely proportional to their prices.

(14) Alternatively, a directly proportional or other methodology may be used in allocating a mark for the cost, and the methodology to be used shall be described in a request for proposal.

Combined quality and cost evaluation

122. (1) A total score shall be obtained by weighting the quality and cost scores and adding them.

(2) A weight for a cost shall be chosen taking into account the complexity of an assignment and relative importance of quality.

(3) A weight for quality and cost shall be provided in a request for proposal.

(4) A formula for combining a technical and financial score shall be indicated in a request for proposal and in accordance with a sample formula to be specified in the regulations.

(5) A firm obtaining a highest total score shall be invited for negotiation.

Rejection of a proposal

123. A procuring entity may reject a proposal -

- (a) at any time prior to acceptance of a proposal; and
- (b) if it fails to achieve a minimum technical score specified in a request for proposal.

Cancellation and re-invitation of a proposal

124. (1) A procuring entity may cancel procurement proceedings where -

- (a) a procurement need has ceased to exist or changed significantly;
- (b) there is no sufficient funding available for the procurement;

- (c) there is a significant change in a required technical detail, procurement procedure, condition of contract or other details such that a recommencement of a proceeding is necessary;
 - (d) there is no responsive offer received;
 - (e) there is evidence of corruption, fraud, coercion or collusion among the shortlisted firms; and
 - (f) cancellation is in the interest of national security.

(2) Before rejecting all proposals or cancelling the procurement proceedings, a procurement unit shall prepare a written request to a procurement committee for approval of the rejection or cancellation.

(3) The request shall be submitted to a procurement committee and shall clearly state -

- (a) a detailed reason for recommending the rejection or cancellation;
- (b) a status of the procurement proceedings including whether a proposal had already been opened; and
- (c) whether new procurement proceedings are recommended and if so, a modification recommended.

(4) The reason for rejecting a proposal or cancelling the procurement proceeding shall be noted in a record of the procurement proceedings and promptly communicated to a consultant.

(5) A procuring entity shall not be liable to a consultant by reason of rejection of a proposal or cancellation of procurement proceeding under subsection (1).

(6) If a decision to cancel the procurement proceedings is taken before a deadline for submission of a tender, a proposal received shall be kept unopened.

(7) In an event of cancellation or rejection of a proposal in terms of subsection (1), a consultant shall not be re-invited to the same terms of reference and contract condition, unless the cancellation of an initial proceeding is for budgetary or other reasons unrelated to the terms of reference and contract condition.

(8) If a procurement is to be repeated, the reason for a cancellation of initial proceedings shall be examined and a technical term of reference or contract condition or both, may be suitably modified prior to re-invitation.

(9) In a case of cancellation under subsection (1) (b), as an alternative to re-invitation, a feasibility of increasing a budget or scaling down a scope of service with a firm shall be investigated.

(10) Any substantial reduction in the scope of service shall not be acceptable.

Negotiation and award of a contract

125. (1) A procurement committee shall establish a negotiation team responsible for negotiating a contract.

(2) A negotiation may not be simultaneously conducted with several consultants and shall cover terms of reference and scope of a proposed service, deliverable, progress report, facility to be provided by a procuring entity and financial proposal.

(3) A negotiation shall not substantially alter the term of reference or contract and whenever price has been a factor in a ranking of a proposal, the price including fee for services shall not be subject to negotiation.

(4) Upon a successful completion of a negotiation, a procuring entity shall notify a participating consultant of a proposed award decision.

(5) If a negotiation with a highest ranked consultant fails, after appropriate notice to a consultant, a procuring entity shall terminate the negotiation after obtaining an approval of a procurement committee and a next ranked consultant shall be invited for negotiation.

(6) A selected firm shall not be allowed to substitute a key expert, unless both parties agree that undue delay in a selection process make a substitution unavoidable or that a change is critical to meet an objective of an assignment.

(7) A key expert proposed for substitution shall have a qualification equal to or better than the key expert initially proposed.

(8) If it is established that a key expert would not be available and was included in a proposal without confirming his availability, a firm may be disqualified, and a process continued with a next ranked firm.

(9) A rate of an expert shall not be negotiated unless under exceptional circumstances.

Quality based selection method

126. (1) A procuring entity may, subject to an approval of a procurement committee, use a quality-based selection if an assignment -

- (a) is highly complex or specialized and it is difficult to define a precise term of reference and a required input of a consultant for which the consultant is expected to demonstrate innovation in his proposal;
- (b) has a high downstream impact and an objective is to have the best expert; or
- (c) can be carried out in substantially different ways and a proposal will not be comparable.

(2) In a quality-based selection, a procuring entity shall invite a shortlisted firm to submit a technical proposal only, and the firm scoring the highest-ranked technical proposal shall be asked to submit a detailed financial proposal for negotiation and award of contract.

(3) Other aspects of a selection process shall be identical to those of a quality and cost-based selection except that, only the price of a winning firm shall be published.

Least cost selection

127. (1) The least cost selection method shall be used for selecting a consultant for an assignment of a standard or routine nature, including audit and engineering design of non-complex work where a well-established practice and standard exist.

(2) A selection procedure to be used for least cost method shall be the same as the one used for a quality and cost-based selection except that, a firm offering the least cost will be selected for a negotiation and award of contract.

Fixed budget selection

128. (1) A procuring entity may, subject to an approval of a procurement committee, use selection under a fixed budget procedure when an assignment is simple and can be precisely defined and a budget is fixed.

(2) A selection procedure under fixed budget selection method shall be the same as a procedure for a quality and cost-based selection method, except that a shortlisted firm shall be required to prepare its financial proposal within a fixed budget.

(3) A fixed budget shall be disclosed in a request for proposal.

(4) A proposal that exceeds an indicated budget shall be rejected.

Consultant qualification selection

129. (1) A consultant qualification selection method may be used for an assignment that does not exceed a threshold set out in Schedule 2, and in a selection of a consultant for which a need for preparing and evaluating a competitive proposal is not justified.

(2) A procuring entity shall prepare terms of reference for an assignment and establish a shortlist of three to six firms with adequate experience and competence relevant to an assignment.

(3) A contract shall be awarded to a firm on the shortlist with most appropriate qualifications and references.

(4) A selected firm shall be invited to submit a combined technical and financial proposal and then be invited to negotiate a contract.

Individual consultant selection

130. (1) An individual consultant is employed on an assignment for which a team of personnel is not required and additional outside professional support is not required.

(2) An individual consultant shall be selected based on his qualifications for an assignment.

(3) An individual considered for comparison of qualifications shall meet a minimum relevant qualification and the individual selected for employment by a procuring entity shall be the best qualified and fully capable of carrying out an assignment.

(4) The capability to carry out an assignment is judged based on -

- (a) academic or professional background;
- (b) experience; and
- (c) knowledge of a local condition such as a local language, culture, administrative system and government organization.

(5) A procuring entity shall shortlist at least three individuals and compare their qualifications and capability relevant to an assignment and an individual with best qualifications shall be selected for an assignment.

(6) The selected individual shall be asked to submit a technical and financial proposal and then be invited to negotiate a contract.

Single source selection method

131. (1) A procuring entity may, subject to an approval of a procurement committee, use a single source selection method of a consultant only in an exceptional case and if the method demonstrates a clear advantage over a competitive method on the following issues:

- (a) for a task that represent a natural continuation of ongoing or previous work carried out by a firm;
- (b) in an emergency case such as a response to a disaster and for consulting service required during a period immediately following the emergency;
- (c) for a very small assignment as defined in Schedule 1;
- (d) when only one firm is qualified or has unique experience for an assignment; or
- (e) as a result of downstream assignment.

(2) In each case described in subsection (1), a procuring entity shall ask a selected consultant based on terms of reference furnished by a procuring entity, to prepare a technical and financial proposal which shall then be negotiated.

Selection of a procurement agent

132. (1) A procuring entity may use a service of a procurement agent to undertake a procurement function which would otherwise be carried out by a procuring entity, but a procurement function or service shall be carried out in accordance with the Act.

(2) Subject to the approval of a procurement committee, a procurement agent shall, be used where a procuring entity or its procurement unit lacks capacity to carry out procurement.

(3) A procurement agent shall act strictly on behalf of a procuring entity and shall follow a procurement procedure outlined in this Act and regulations, including use of a standard tender documents and other documentation issued by the Authority.

Selection of inspection agent

133. Where a procurement agent has been appointed by a procuring entity, and there is a need to undertake pre-shipment inspection and certification of an import, a procuring entity may use an agent without going through another selection process for an agent, otherwise inspection agent shall be selected following appropriate selection procedure.

PART VII – CONTRACT MANAGEMENT

Procurement contract

134. (1) A procurement contract shall, where possible, be based on an appropriate model contract set out in a standard bidding document developed by the Authority.

(2) A procuring entity shall ensure that a procurement contract it enters into -

- (a) sets out the complete names and addresses of a party to a contract;
- (b) lists the contract documents by order of priority;
- (c) states -
 - (i) the specification, quantity and price of a procurement requirement;
 - (ii) how a price shall be determined; and
 - (iii) when a price shall be paid and a method of payment;
- (d) provides for -
 - (i) a right of a procuring entity to inspect a procurement requirement in order to ensure proper performance of the contract by a contractor;
 - (ii) delivery of a procurement requirement, including, where appropriate, transfer of title, risk of loss, insurance and the completion of import and export formalities, which provisions shall be defined in accordance with international commer-

- cial terms published by a body such as the International Chamber of Commerce;
 - (iii) a remedy of either of the parties in the event of breach by the other;
 - (iv) the responsibility of the parties in the event of delay in performance, supervening impossibility of performance or other event affecting performance;
 - (v) the termination of a contract; and
 - (vi) the nature and amount of security to be provided by the parties, where applicable;
- (e) specifies a place and time of delivery or completion of a procurement requirement and a condition relating to its delivery or completion;
 - (f) contains a provision for dispute settlement; and
 - (g) covers other necessary issues concerning an obligation of the parties and clarifying a transaction, including price revision, warranty, contract modification, sub-contracting, insurance obligation and remedy for delay and non-performance.

Performance security

135. (1) A tender document for work shall require a performance security in an amount stated in the regulations to protect a procuring entity in a case of breach of contract by a contractor, with a possible exception of small work contract for dealing with an emergency.

2) A security shall be provided in a prescribed form in a standard bidding document and amount specified in a tender document.

(3) A portion of a security may extend beyond a date of completion of the work to cover a defect liability or maintenance period up to a final acceptance by a procuring entity.

(4) Alternatively or as a supplement to a performance security, a contract may provide for a percentage of each periodic payment to be held as retention money until final acceptance.

(5) A contractor may be allowed to replace retention money with an equivalent security after a provisional acceptance.

(6) A format of a performance security shall be in accordance with the one provided in a tender document and shall be issued by a reputable bank or a financial institution selected by a tenderer.

(7) If an institution issuing a security is located outside Lesotho, it shall have a correspondent financial institution located in Lesotho.

(8) In a contract other than for work, a need for a performance security shall depend on a market condition and commercial practice for a particular kind of contract.

(9) A supplier or manufacturer may be required to provide a guarantee to protect a procuring entity against non-performance of a contract, and such a security in appropriate amount, may also cover a warranty obligation.

Responsibility for contract management

136. (1) A procuring entity or other designated entity shall -

- (a) be responsible for administering a procurement contract; and
- (b) establish a procedure for administering a contract and provide the necessary resources, human and material, for effective contract administration.

(2) Under a framework contract, a procuring entity shall be responsible for ensuring a drawdown that it makes from a contract delivered in a correct quantity and specification.

Pricing in procurement contracts

137. (1) A price of a procurement requirement in a procurement contract shall be set -

- (a) based on a unit price applied to a quantity actually delivered;
- (b) based on a lump-sum, applied to a whole or part of a contract, irrespective of an actual quantity needed to be delivered to fulfil a contract; or
- (c) in a way that may be prescribed or authorised in a standard bidding document, general condition of a contract or instrument issued by the Authority.

(2) An adjustment of a price of a procurement contract for - works shall not exceed fifteen percent of the price of the original contract; and goods and services shall not exceed twenty percent of the price of the original contract.

(3) Where the time for performance under a procurement contract extends beyond a prescribed period, a contract may provide for an adjustment in a price to consider a change in economic circumstances.

(4) Where a procurement contract provides for an adjustment in a price, a contract shall stipulate clearly a -

- (a) condition under which a price adjustment shall be permitted, which condition may include an increase or decrease in a cost of material, labour and energy;
- (b) formulae and indices to be referred to in order to determine whether a price adjustment is permissible and to identify an amount of adjustment;
- (c) frequency with which a price adjustment may be implemented; and
- (d) procedure to be followed in order to effect a price ad justment.

(5) A procurement contract may provide that, where an application of a price adjustment modifies an initial price or balance owing under a contract by more than fifteen percent, a procuring entity may terminate a contract.

Variation of a procurement contract

138. (1) A variation of a procurement contract that exceeds a maximum variation allowed in a contract document or necessitated by law enacted after an award shall be effected by a modification of a contract signed by both parties.

(2) A procurement contract may permit a representative of a procuring entity or other official designated in a procurement contract to issue, in writing, a variation order requiring a supplier or contractor to implement a technical change or change in a quantity or delivery time of the goods, work or service to be supplied.

(3) A party to a procurement contract shall not agree to vary a contract, if variation would result in a contract being materially different from the original contract or would significantly alter the nature or scope of a contract.

(4) Where a procuring entity wishes to vary a procurement contract in a manner referred to in subsection (2) or to increase a contract price to a greater extent than is prescribed or permitted, a procuring entity shall either initiate fresh procurement proceedings, or where appropriate, embark on a direct procurement.

Payment

139. (1) A payment under a procurement contract shall be made within 30 days or a time-limit set out in a contract, and a contract may provide for payment of a compensation for failure to make a payment within a time-limit.

(2) A procurement contract may provide for a procuring entity to make a progress payment based on progress in fulfilment of a contract.

(3) A payment under subsection (2) may be -

(a) calculated as a percentage of a total performance due

under a contract;

- (b) paid according to an achievement of a performance milestone identified in a contract;
- (c) based on an actual quantity delivered or completed; or
- (d) paid or calculated on a basis that may be prescribed.

(4) A progress payment shall not be made except upon presentation and acceptance of documentation as is required under a procurement contract as evidence of a progress in performance.

(5) Where a procurement contract provides for a making of progress payment, a contract may, in terms of section 135(4), provide that a procuring entity may withhold a percentage of an amount due as retention money until performance of a procurement contract is completed.

(6) Where necessary to enable effective implementation of a contract, a procurement contract may provide for a procuring entity to make advance payment of a price, provided that -

- (a) a letter of credit facility is issued or its equivalent; or
- (b) advance payment shall not be made unless a contractor furnishes an advance payment guarantee covering an amount of advance payment and satisfies a term set out in a bidding document.

(7) Where a procuring entity has made an advance payment under a procurement contract -

- (a) a contractor and its sub-contractor shall utilise material, equipment and personnel that is a subject of advance payment only for a work or service for which advance payment was made; and
- (b) in a case of a contract for a construction of work, a contractor and its subcontractor shall commit material, equipment and personnel that is a subject of advance payment exclusively to site related to a work covered by a contract and for which an advance payment was made.

Sub-contracting

140. (1) Unless a procurement contract provides otherwise, a contractor may sub-contract part of its performance under a procurement contract, subject to a written approval of a procuring entity for each sub-contract, except in a case of management contract, a contractor shall not sub-contract a performance of all its obligations under a contract.

(2) A contractor shall not enter into a contract without a prior written consent of a procuring entity.

(3) A sub-contracting shall not diminish or affect a responsibility of a contractor to fulfil its obligation under a procurement contract.

Inspection of goods and construction work

141. (1) Where a procurement requirement consists of goods or construction work, a procurement contract shall give a procuring entity a right -

- (a) to inspect a procurement requirement before accepting it; and
- (b) at a reasonable time, to observe and inspect a manufacture of goods or progress of a construction work.

(2) A contract shall provide that a defect or omission detected at an inspection or observation shall be remedied at the expense of a contractor.

(3) A contractor shall, at its own expense, place at a disposal of a procuring entity a premise, facility and personnel needed for inspection referred to in subsection (1).

(4) A contractor and a procuring entity shall each bear an expense for attendance of their respective representatives at the inspection referred to in subsection (1).

(5) A procurement contract may establish a schedule of a required inspection and test, and an allocation of liability for an additional cost and time incurred in order to accommodate an unscheduled inspection and test.

(6) If a contractor has been permitted to employ a service of a sub-contractor, it shall in its contract with the sub-contractor, reserve to a procuring entity, a right of inspection and observation referred to in this section.

(7) A procuring entity may appoint -

(a) an inspection committee and additionally or alternatively, an inspection agent to carry out inspection referred to in subsection (1); and

(b) a technical committee to inspect a procurement requirement and accept a performance under a contract.

After sales service

142. A bidding document and procurement contract may oblige a contractor to provide workshop and spare parts for goods that require after-sale service, duration of such obligation corresponding to an average operating life span of the goods.

Insurance

143. (1) Where in a procurement, a successful bidder is required to obtain insurance, a requirement shall be stated in a bidding document or request for proposal and in a procurement contract, indicating an amount and essential term of an insurance cover that a successful bidder is required to obtain.

(2) A procurement contract may require a contractor to cause its sub-contractor to take out and maintain insurance cover in accordance with a requirement of a procurement contract.

(3) Where a procurement contract contains a requirement referred to in subsection (1) or (2), it shall reserve to a procuring entity, a right to reject insurance coverage that does not comply with a requirement stated in the contract.

Remedy

144. (1) A procurement contract shall provide a procuring entity with one or more lawful remedies in an event of breach of contract by a contractor, which remedy may include -

- (a) rejection of defective performance;
- (b) prompt removal and replacement of defective goods, repair or replacement of defective performance;
- (c) a liquidated damage for delay;
- (d) reduction in a price for defective performance; and
- (e) termination of a contract and procurement of replacement performance, at an expense of a defaulting party.

(2) A procurement contract shall also stipulate a remedy available to a contractor in an event of breach of contract by a procuring entity.

Liquidated damage

145. Where a procurement contract provides that a contractor is liable to pay an agreed percentage of a contract value for delay in a performance due under a contract, a provision shall specify -

- (a) an amount to be paid for each day, week or month of a delay;
- (b) a maximum period of delay allowed before a contract can be terminated;
- (c) that a contractor is not relieved of its liability for performance under a contract by virtue of payment under a provision;
- (d) a liquidated damage for delay, up to a maximum referred to in subparagraph (b), in addition to liability for an extra cost of entering into a further procurement contract with another contractor;

- (e) that a contractor will not be charged a liquidated damage when a delay in delivery or performance is beyond the control of the contractor and is not caused by fault or negligence on the part of the contractor.

Settlement of dispute

146. (1) A procurement contract shall specify a substantive law applicable to a contract and a way a dispute that might arise in an implementation of a procurement contract is to be settled.

(2) A contract may include a mechanism for amicable settlement of a dispute that might arise among the parties during a contracting period.

(3) In prioritizing an amicable settlement of a dispute through a negotiation, a procurement contract may provide for a technique including a cooling-off period for negotiation prior to a resort to a litigation or arbitration.

(4) A procurement contract may provide for an appointment of a third party to aid in a settlement of a dispute, in a form of -

- (a) a conciliation or mediation;
- (b) related technique involving an appointment of a dispute-expert, adjudicator or dispute review board; and
- (c) a related appointment procedure for a third-party facilitator, to assist a party in amicable settlement of a dispute.

(5) A party to a procurement contract may agree in a procurement contract or separate written agreement, to submit a dispute arising in a contract to arbitration.

(6) In a case referred to under subsection (5), an agreement to arbitrate a dispute shall stipulate an institutional setting for arbitration, the procedural rules to govern a conduct of arbitration and a location of arbitration.

(7) In the absence of an arbitration clause, a procurement contract shall specify a court competent to settle a contract dispute.

(8) When an arbitration clause or agreement is invoked, a party shall continue performance of a contractual obligation stated in the clause or agreement.

Contract termination

147. A procurement contract shall refer to a case in which a contract is subject to termination, including the following:

- (a) if a supplier or contractor -
 - (i) has obtained a contract through bribery;
 - (ii) has committed fraud, corruption, tender rigging or manipulation to win or implement a contract;
 - (iii) became insolvent, bankrupt, his insolvency was established or a court order issued to place him under receivership or in the event of a company, it was dissolved or liquidated;

GOVERNMENT NOTICE NO. 3 OF 2023

The Parliament of LesothoStatement of Objects and Reasons of the Public Procurement Act, 2023

(Circulated by the Authority of the Minister of Finance Honourable Dr. Retšelisitsoe Matlanyane)

The main purpose of the Public Procurement Act, 2023 is to establish the Lesotho Public Procurement Authority to regulate institutional structures and manage public procurement by providing procedures, processes and regulation of procurement of goods, works and services, and disposal of unserviceable, obsolete, obsolescent, redundant, surplus stores and equipment to optimize efficiency in public procurement and obtain value for money.

The Act provides the Authority with power to request for information, document, record and report in respect of any aspect of a public procurement process where the breach, wrongdoing, mismanagement or collusion has been allegedly reported or proven against a procuring and disposing entity or provider, commission or undertake an investigation and institute a procurement contract and performance audit and suspend a supplier, contractor or consultant for engaging in public procurement misconduct.

The Act establishes a Central Tender Board which shall be responsible for conducting a bidding process on behalf of a public entity for large tender in excess of twenty million (M20,000,000,00) for consultancy works and fifty Million (M50,000,000,00) for works as indicated in the schedules.

The Act further codifies all issues pertaining to procurement and disposal of absolute stores by providing for the establishment and functions of the Public Procurement Tribunal. Previously, the Tribunal was established under the Public Financial Management and Accountability Act (PFAMAA).

The Act also provides for debarment of tenderers, suppliers, contractors or consultants for provision of false information in a process of submitting a tender, collusion between suppliers and a public officer concerning formulation of a tender document, connivance to interfere with a participation of a competing tenderer and misconduct relating to a submission of a tender including corruption, collusion, coercion, obstruction, price fixing, tender rigging, pattern of underpricing of a tender, breach of Confidentiality and any other relevant misconduct.

The Act provides for emergency procurement during a state of disaster or emergency and further lays down the procedures to be followed during emergency.

Moreover, the Act provides and introduces an electronic method of procurement to enable a procurement entity to disseminate tender documents and receipt through electronic means.

The Act further provides for community participation in procurement where there is need to carry out small value construction works and supply of goods.
